Also Mollie King in "THE SEVEN PEARLS." Pathe's Sensation of the Screen. Chapter II "GEMS OF JEOPARDY," 2 thrilling acts.

Special Features Announced For Next Week at the Picture Shows

Princess Monday.

"The Song of Songs," where both producer and star have a subject worthy of their talents. Miss Ferguson, who is conceded to be one of the best dressed women in New York, wears a variety of beautiful costumes in this production, a fact which should have a distinct appeal to the feminine portion of audiences. In support of Miss Ferguson appear Frank Lawe, Gertrude Berkeley, Crawford Kunk and a number of other prominent and well-known players. The story of "The Song of Songs," is very similar to that of "The Outcast," which was one of Miss Ferguson's great stage successes.

Rex Monday.

"The Man Hater," with Winifred Allen. A Saturday Evening Post story by Mary Brecht Pulver. A three-fold appeal—a remarkable story from America's greatest publication, a winning star and the ever-delighting Triangle kiddies.

Princess Tuesday.

Jewel Carmen took a particular delight in the making of "The Girl with the Champagne Eyes," the great William Fox photoplay which is laid principally in Alaska. No phase of nature but has its appeal to this beautiful woman. She is as happy in the frigid North as she is among her flowers and birds in her home in Los Angeles. She is known among her friends for her devotion to her work and for the delight that she gets out of the beautiful things with which she has surrounded herself.

Rex Tuesday.

A cast of genuine favorites has been chosen to support Viola Dana in her Metro wonderplay, "Lady Burnside," presented by B. A. Rolfe and directed by John H. Collins, made from Edgar Franklin's novel by arrangement with the All-Story Weekly.

Princess Wednesday.

In "The Silence Sellers," the forthcoming Metro Wonderplay in which Mme. Petrova is starred, motion picture patrons will again find the star supported by many players who have contributed to her past Metro successes.

TIME TO PLANT

WOMAN'S COUNCIL OF NATION.
AL DEFENSE—FOOD PRODUCTION COMMITTEE.

Mrs. Holland Garnett, Chairman. It is not too early to plant peas, potatoes and onions. Plant a few early beans too if you are prepared to protect them with newspapers or paper sacks when there is a touch of frost in the air.

Lettuce, tomatoes and cabbage can be planted now in window boxes or in burnt-beds or in hot beds for transplanting later. Mustard and spring turnips can be planted now in beds and canvassed.

Most of the winter garden vegetables can be planted fairly early, as salady, carrots, parsnips and so on.

Get a good seed catalogue and sit up nights with it. Write the Agriculture Department at Washington or the State University at Lexington for bulletins on The Home Garden and the growing of vegetables.

If you are a back yard farmer plant your little plot and cultivate it intensively. If you are a real farmer on broad acres, plant one or two of them and raise the things to eat that are so vital. See that your tenants and others in your neighborhood are aroused and plant each one a garden from which can come this summer quarts and bushels of canned and dried foods which will insure against a famine in a land of plenty.

We have always had food and we thought we always would have it by calling up the corner grocery, but by this time next year two million and more producers will be in the field and from three to five million more will be supplying them and moving their supplies. Work is plentiful and wages good but King Midas found that gold was not a satisfying diet. It takes the fruit of the soil and labor to make food and "Food Will Win The War."

SCHOOL FAIR
ANNOUNCED

FINE PROGRAM ARRANGED FOR ENTERTAINMENT AT NEW-

STEAD SCHOOL.

A big school fair is being arranged

for and will be given at the Newstead

centralized school Friday night, Mar.

27. Many attractions will be there to entertain you and make you laugh

Some of the specials are: Tom

Thumb Wedding, Bachelor's Reverie,

Hula-Hula Dancing Girl, Grand Opera, the proverbial Wild Man of

Borneo Animal Show, The Fortune

Teller, etc. There will be booths serving lemonade, ice cream, popcorn, candy, and other goodies.

Everybody must attend this fair

if possible.

WILL PROBATED.

The will of the late W. F. Cox, of near Gracey, was probated yesterday morning and filed. Frank Rives and

T. S. Knight signed the will as witnesses. It is dated April 16, 1913,

and bequeathed to his sister, Miss

Joe Cox $500 and some special bequests to his son and daughter, and the widow of the deceased for her lifetime. The estate left is a large one and the son Walter Cox qualified as administrator. Aside from the special bequests, it is to be divided according to law.

MARTIN-MARTIN.

A young lady named Miss Braskie

Martin, aged nineteen, decided she would like to get married but did not wish to change her name. Mr. Francis

Martin, aged forty-five, helped to solve this problem. This is the solution: They had issued a marriage licence yesterday and today will be made man and wife by a ceremony

which will be said by the Rev. P. P.

Gladdish at his home. These parties reside in the northern part of the county.
